

You are allowed to team up with other people from your team for this exercise.

Imagine working in a team that has no synergy at all. No one in the team is valuing the differences and no one is looking for the third alternative.

- Describe, how would it feel to work in such a team?
- Do you think you would feel motivated to keep working in such a team?